Vermont must be a sleepy old State, if it be true, as asserted by physicians, that they find use every month for 3,300,000 doses of opium.

May corn has gone to 60 cents a bushel in Chicago. Young Mr. Phillips has cornered corn. This is the highest price reached since '92, when speculators ran it up to a dollar for a while.

Mrs. Carrie Nation pleaded insanity when tried for saloon smashing. There is little doubt as to her insanity, but how about the people who followed her and whooped for her while she was on the smash?

Mrs. Harris, of Atlanta, celebrated her 83rd birthday by laying aside her spectacles, which she had used for forty years, on the discovery that she could see without them as well as she ever did in her life, and better than she could with the specks.

There are some white "Red Men" in this country, but a traveller in Peru was surprised by suddenly running up with a tribe of white Indians. He says they are strikingly handsome, too, while most of the other kind of Indians are strikingly the reverse.

A young man of Bloomdale, Ohio, got himself into trouble by an overpartiality for red hair. When he met a red haired girl he could not resist the temptation to swipe some of that hair. But he went into another town where they did not know of his hankering for that kind of hair, yanked some from the locks of a young woman he met, and got himself into the calaboose.

It is said that the Pennsyvania Railroad Company is going to build a bridge across the Hudson river, which will cost $80,000,000, about five times as much as the Brooklyn bridge cost. The tunnel will be completed, too, within six months, so that people who do not want to go over the river can go under it.

There is a racket in the Mecklenburg-Schwerin family. Henry had more debts than he could wipe out, and he gave his notes to pay up in six days after he married Queen Wilhelmina. He didn't come to time, and creditors presented the notes to Wilhelmina, who told them she wasn't running a broker shop, and then they thought they'd play smart by huckstering the notes in Amsterdam. Then she got good mad at the Amsterdam trick, and made it hot for Harry of Mecklenburg-Schwerin. Harry is swearing mad, too, but Willie will not cash dem notes.

SEWERAGE QUESTION

Aldermen Restrain Wilmington Co. From Breaking Ground for Its System.

RESTRAINT WAS ACCEPTED.

The Officers Having Previously Announced Their Intention to Desist From Work Until Fall — The Ordinance Adopted Unanimously.

The Board of Aldermen met in special session last night at the call of Mayor Waddell, who stated upon the opening of the meeting that the session was because of the request and in deference to the wishes of a very general public sentiment against the breaking of earth at so near an approach to the Spring, by the Wilmington Sewerage Company, which had announced its purpose to begin at once upon the laying of pipes for the system of sanitary sewerage with which it proposes to equip the city. He said he believed there was no contention over the matter and to relieve the anxiety of many people for their health, he hoped the Board would take action and adjourn as early as possible. There was a diversity of opinion, he said, among physicians as to endangerment of health by the proposed excavations, but he would await the pleasure of the Board.

Alderman Harriss then read a prohibitory ordinance, and Hon. John D. Bellamy, by permission, addressed the Board, saying as counsel for the company that the officers and stockholders had already cheerfully changed their plans to begin work in deference to what he believed an unbiased sentiment, though there was some opposition prompted by ulterior motives; that the Wilmington Sewerage Company is a home company, for the interests of home people, and that it would gladly desist from anything that would endanger the health of the community.

Mayor Waddell, then explained his vote upon the question of granting the franchise, and expressed satisfaction that so many people of prominence manifested an interest in the matter by their presence at the meeting.

The ordinance by Alderman Harriss was then unanimously adopted as follows:

The Mayor and Board of Aldermen of the city of Wilmington do enact:

Section 1. That it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to break or disturb the ground and earth within the city limits any time during the period of the year, beginning May 20th and ending September 30th.

Section 2. Every person convicted of violating this ordinance shall be fined $50 for each and every offence.

Section 3. Provided, however, that should it become necessary for the public welfare and health of the community to repair any sewer, gas or water pipe, then the Superintendent of Health shall with the concurrence of the Sanitary Committee of the Board of Aldermen, grant permission to make only such repairs as are absolutely necessary for the public health to abate such nuisance.

Section 4. All ordinances or clauses of ordinance in conflict herewith are hereby repealed. Passed this the 18th day of May, 1901.

Father King Kelly bundled his bats and balls and other paraphernalia yesterday afternoon, after taking the third of the series of games with Wilmington, and wended his way homeward with a tale too awful to tell in a newspaper—yes, even too horrible to relate in an exclusive base ball periodical.

The game was won yesterday by the Red Birds not until the last man was out, and be it said to the credit of

KELLY MAKING A HOME RUN—TO RALEIGH.

Kelly and his kids, they played good ball and won the game after a close call. Stanley pitched magnificent ball but was content with aerialistic performances at some stages of the game. Allen, the good, hard ball player that he is, was in the box for a second time during the series of three games and struck out nine men while Stanley got only five. "Tacks" is a comer. He has recently acquired the name of "the boy wonder" and he right well sustains it. Raleigh won out by bunching its hits in the seventh inning, by an error, and by a wild throw of Cranston.

And now Raleigh and Wilmington are again playing hide and seek around the top of the percentage column.

And here's the cause of it all:

Kelly got a single in first, while Sutch, Hennegar and Aiz go out from the infield. Clayton gets the only single for Wilmington, while Cranston, Stafford and Crockett pop out.

Meade in the second gets third on a single and Sebring's error. Sherman fans; Person walks and by a double-back-action performance of "Tacks" in the box, Meade is caught between third and home; Legrande pops out to

HOW IT MIGHT HAVE BEEN WITH THE UMPIRE.

Allen and for Wilmington, Sebring fans and Delaney and Warren go out from the infield.

In the third, Stanley gets third on a single and McGinnis' error; Sutch goes out to Crockett, and Hennegar to Allen; Stanley scores on Kelly's two base hit with two men down and the King is sent across the plate by a two-bagger by Aiz; Aiz gets third on Allen's wild pitch, and Meade fans. The three men, McGinnis, Allen and Cranston, that faced Stanley for Wilmington described beautiful semi-circles in the air, and the side is retired.

In the fourth Sherman and Legrande beat the air at something they vaguely imagine "Tacks" is sending through the atmosphere while Person went out from Clayton. For Wilmington, Crockett singles, steals second and scores on Sebring's single to left, after Clayton has fanned and Captain "Bob" has dropped a ball in the hands of second; Delaney goes out from second.

In the fifth, Stanley gets a single but Sutch and Hennegar are twisted away from the plate by "Tacks," and big Kelly forces Home Run Stanley on second. Warren, for Wilmington, singles over second, steals scond and third, and McGinnis is out at first; Allen hit out to second and Warren scores; Cranston goes out from short and the score is tied.

A fan by Aiz, a pop fly by Meade, a single by Sherman and the theft of second with a hit out to Allen by Person winds up Raleigh's end of the sixth. Crockett and Clayton go out from pop flys to infield and with two men down, Stafford gets a home run by a wild throw by Aiz to Kelly, the ball having gone under the bleachers and disappeared; Sebring goes to centre for two bags and scorces on Delaney single to the same place; Warren flies out to Meade and the score is 4 to 3 in Wilmington's favor.

The seventh was fatal for Wilmington an a costly error by Clayton and a wild throw by Cranston, three Red Birds having crossed the plate and cinched the game. LeGrande fans and Stanley gets first on Clayton's error; Sutch singles and Stanley scores on Hennegar's safe hit; Hennegar is caught at secoad and Kelly scores Sutch on a single, afterwards scoring himsf if on Cranston's wild throw; Aiz goes out to short. For Wilmington, McGinnis, Allen and Cranston go out from second, centre and short.

In the eight, Meade is out from second; Sherman fans; Person hits past Warren for two bags; LeGrande singles to same place; Stanley hits to Allen and Person died hard at the plate. For Wilmington Crockett and Clayton fly out to Sutch and Sherman; "Staff" goes to left for two bags; Sebring walks and both advance a peg on LeGrand's passed ball. Though two men are down, it looks like a tied score, but it isn't. Delaney drubs one to pitcher and out.

In the ninth Sutch fans; Hennegar goes out from short; Kelley goes out from Allen. Warren hits out to third; McGinnis fouls out to third and Allen goes out at first.

"The Horse Editor Said to Kelly."

Come to think of it, four out of six games from Raleigh isn't so bad, after all.

After the seventh inning, when the Red Birds made three flights, "King" Kelly was brimful of exuberance.

The Giants are scheduled to take four of the six games from Richmond and Portsmouth this week.

Of the last eleven games played by the Giants they have won nine. Do you see any opening here for the "knockers?"

The religious editor of the News and Observer telegraphs the following lachrymose message to the STAR: "It seems you shouted before you were out of the woods. If four games out of six against a crippled team is the best you can do, you had better pull in your pennant winning aspirations. Don't you think so?"

The committee on pistoricals didn't report yesterday; but Umpire Upchurch drew his watch on Pitcher Stanley. The latter stopped his "kicking," however, preferring to pitch in the game rather than be pitched out of it.

"Cousin Sam" was one of the most vigorous rooters in the grand stand. He was worse than two pigs in a potato patch. The horse editor looked at him with dismay.

The sporting editor of the News and Observer telegraphed the horse editor of the STAR last night as follows: "He laughs best who laughs last. Keep your whitewash, and notify us of the time of the funeral." This is the last note of the dying Swan.

Richmond will arrive to day and Portsmouth Thursday for three games here this week, at which Mr. Staley will officiate as umpire.

There are wild rumors afloat about the release of certain men on the Wilmington team. Nobody has been released; nobody has as yet jumped a contract, and the manager, captain and board of directors were, at last accounts, perfectly capable of managing the affairs of the team.

Games on Other Diamonds.

RICHMOND, VA., May 18.—No game here to-day with Newport News on account of rain.

PORTSMOUTH, VA., May 18.—At the end of the fifth inning here to-day the game was called on account of rain. The "Orphans" led off with four runs in the first inning, and while Norfolk was gaining steadily she lost to Portsmouth. The score:

	1	2	3	4	5	RHE
Portsmouth	4	0	0	0	0	4 3 0
Norfolk	1	0	1	3	0	2 4 0

WRIGHTSVILLE FIRE.

Ocean View Hotel, Bath Houses, One Cottage and a Vacant Store Destroyed.

WILL BE REBUILT AT ONCE.

Losses Will Aggregate Between $10,000 and $15,000 With About Three-fourths Insurance—Other Hotels Were Saved—A Special Train.

Wrightsville Beach was visited by a destructive fire at 8 o'clock last night which caused a loss of upwards of $15,000, about three-fourths covered by insurance.

The fire originated from an unknown source in the Ocean View Hotel, belonging to the Ocean View Company, S. A. Schloss, president, and principal stockholder, and this building with Mr. Schloss' "VanAmringe" cottage, two bath houses and the "Sanders" store on the west side of the railroad are a complete loss, together with their contents.

The fire was discovered about the same time by little Miss Minnie Grant, daughter of Capt. R. O. Grant, on the sound, and Ed. Brewington, the colored watchman on the beach. There was at first only a slight blaze on the south side of the dining room, between the bar and the kitchen, but the wind was coming from the south and very soon the entire building was enveloped in flames. Mrs. W. E. Mayo, who has conducted the hotel for the past several years, had returned from the beach yesterday afternoon, after spending the week there getting the hotel in readiness for the opening, June 1st. All her furniture and furnishings for the hotel were destroyed The fire next communicated to the two bath houses belonging to the hotel and the wind shifted to the southwest, else the entire beach might have been swept. Mr. Schloss' cottage next took fire and the last building to burn was the vacant store belonging to Mr. Schloss on the west side of the railroad track.

George Ellerbe, a colored man, went upon the roof of the "Russell" cottage, owned jointly by Messrs. R. R. Stone, W. A. Rourk and Capt. W. A. Sanders, and saved it after heroic efforts, falling exhausted when the fire had been controlled. This morning, he was in a serious condition from over-exertion.

Captain Grant and others went over from the Sound and with several marooning parties on the beach other buildings were saved. Among the "marooners" were Messrs. McRee Hatch, O. A. Wiggins, Jr., Junius Davis, Jr., F. L. Huggins, James G. Cochett and Jno B. Peschau. They all worked heroically until Chief Schnibben and a crew of Wilmington firemen, with hook and ladder apparatus, reached the scene on a special train over the Wilmington Seacoast railroad, with Engineer Jno. F. Divine, Jr, at the throttle and Capt. Willie Grant in charge as conductor.

The loss in the Ocean View building is about $7,000, with insurance as follows: Walker Taylor, $3,000; Willard & Giles, $1,000, and J. H. Boatwright & Son, $1,000. The "Sanders" store, valued at about $500 was insured with Willard and Giles for $200. The bath houses, valued at about $600 were insured with J. VanB. Metts for $350. The cottage owned by Mr. Schloss is valued at $1,200 with about three-fourths insurance. The loss on Mrs. Mayo's furniture etc., is about $1,000 with small insurance.

All the property is, of course, situated at the extreme southern end of the beach and the club houses, other cottages, pavilions, new Seashore Hotel, and other resorts of the kind, are intact.

The Ocean View Company has recently expended about $2,000 on its property at the beach and the STAR is assured that it will rebuild at once upon an enlarged scale.

CAPTURED IN FLORENCE, S. S.

The Negro Who Shot Mr. Chas. Richter Arrested Yesterday Afternoon.

Chief of Police Furlong yesterday afternoon received a telegram from Sheriff Thos. S. Burch, of Florence, S. C., stating that he had arrested John Everett, the obstreperous negro who shot and painfully wounded Mr. Chas. Richter in his store in "Brooklyn" several weeks ago, and for the capture of whom Mr. Richter offered $25 reward.

Chief Furlong telegraphed Sheriff Burch last night if he was sure of his man and received the gratifying intelligence that the negro had confessed. An officer will be sent for Everett to-day.

Fayetteville Firemen.

The Observer in its report of the firemen's banquet at Fayetteville says:

"Prof. J. H. Myrover then made the speech of the evening, which was filled with clever hits, quaint sayings and delightful bits of humor. He eulogized Captain McNeill in beautiful and well deserved terms for his faultless record, for so many years, as the Fire Chief of Fayetteville and as the head of the State organization—truly saying that it is impossible to overestimate the value of his services to this city and to the State of North Carolina, as no one even approaches him in knowledge of the requirements of such a position and in assiduous loyalty to his duty therein. Mr. Myrover closed with a well-put greeting to Mr. Roy McDuffie, the new chief just elected by the Board of Aldermen to replace Captain McNeill."

THE STATE BAR ASSOCIATION.

Local Attorneys Are Considering Plans for Its Entertainment Next Month.

At a meeting of the local Bar Association yesterday morning at 11 o'clock at the Court House, over which Mr. Junius Davis, president of this district of the State Association, presided, and of which Marsden Bellamy, Jr., Esq., kept a record of the proceedings, plans for the entertainment of the State Bar Association, which meets at Wrightsville Beach June 26th-28th, were taken under consideration.

Hon. Jno. D. Bellamy was appointed to make an endeavor to secure the revenue cutter Algonquin for the purpose of taking members af the Association upon a trip down the river and out to sea.

Marsden Bellamy, Esq, was selected to deliver the address of welcome to the Association and Chairman Davis was asked to appoint some one else in the event that Mr. Bellamy finds it inconvenient to serve.

Messrs. George Rountree, Jno. H. Gore, Jr., and Robert Ruark were named as a committee, with Mr. Junius Davis, chairman ex officio, to raise the necessary funds for the entertainment of the visitors.

An entertainment committee was appointed, with Mr. Junius Davis chairman ex officio, as follows: Wm. J. Bellamy, T. W. Davis and George L. Peschau.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS.

— Mrs. H. D. Burkhimer and children have returned to Newbern after an extended visit to relatives in Wilmington.

— The Rev. Dr. J. M. Wells left yesterday morning for Raleigh, where to day, he will preach the annual sermon to the graduating class of Peace Institute.

— Newbern Journal: "Miss Mary Bridgers, of Wilmington, and Mrs. Hennie Peeples, of Kinston, were here last night attending the Christian Science lecture, and were guests of Miss Harrison."

Schubert Hall Recital.

The following programme was delightfully rendered yesterday afternoon by pupils of Miss Cannie Chasten's piano classes: "Tarantelle," (Lomas) by Miss Sue Boon. (2) "Folk Song," (Mendelssohn) by Miss Birtie Hanson. (3) "Meditation," (Morrison) by Miss May McMillan. (4) "Hunting Song," (Mendelssohn) by Miss Nellie Corbett.

Trip to Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. George R French left last evening for New York, from whence next Saturday they will sail for Paris and an extended trip in the Old World. They will be joined in Baltimore by Mr. Christian and his wife, who is a sister of Mr. French, and they will make the tour together, remaining abroad until about the middle of September.

Married at Newport News.

The Norfolk papers announce the marriage in Newport News on the 15th inst. of Mr. R. W. Vincent, formerly of Wilmington but now city editor of the Newport News Times, to Miss Estelle Bizzle, of Portsmouth. The attendants were Miss Nana Beck, of Morganton, N. C., and Dr. Geo. W. Williams, of Newport News.

Boys' Brigade Excursion.

There will be four boats for the Boys' Brigade excursion to Carolina Beach to-morrow. The first boat will be at 9:15 A. M. and the others at 2:30, 5:15 and 7:30 P. M. There will be music by the Boston Italian Band and a royally good time for everybody who goes.

BY WILLIAM H. BERNARD.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

SUNDAY MORNING, MAY 19

A POLITICAL NECESSITY.

Events very often make issues in politics, and the political leader is always looking ahead to make issues or to anticipate and forestall them. The tariff has been an issue to a greater or less extent ever since a tariff for protection became the policy of the Republican statesmen. It has since been overshadowed at times by other issues, but it has always figured more or less in our national campaigns.

With the rapid organization of colossal Trusts, and the combination of these into still more colossal organizations, additional interest was given to the tariff question, enough to again make it a leading if not the leading issue in the next campaign. It might and doubtless would have been in the past campaign if it had not been overshadowed by the question of imperialism, as it was in the preceding campaign by the money question, but it can't be very easily overshadowed in the next campaign. The Republican leaders realize this, and none of them more fully than Wm. McKinley, one of the shrewdest politicians they have among them.

His admirers give him credit for statesmanship, and while he is as much entitled to credit for statesmanship as any one in his party he is a politician before a statesman, and a better politician than statesman. As the saying goes he "keeps his ear to the ground," not a very dignified position for a President but a very sensible thing for the politician to do. While professing to be governed by principle in political matters, as all Republicans do, his cardinal inspiration is expediency although expediency may mean a complete change of base, or an absolute repudiation of public declarations, as when he reversed himself in the case of Porto Rico, and substituted "benevolent assimilation" for "criminal aggression" in the Philippines.

If there had been no politics in it there never would have been any war with Spain, and the most exciting and the most historic part of McKinley's administration would never have been history. It was the irresistible pressure of public opinion that forced him to espouse the cause of Cuba. Senator Hanna, ex-Secretary, then Secretary Alger, and other recognized spokesmen of the Republican party have publicly admitted this when they said the lack of preparation for war was the main cause for tardy action in espousing the cause of Cuba.

That was not true, but a mere apology for not doing sooner what they did at last when public pressure became so strong that it could no longer be withstood. The country was better prepared for war with Spain, a third rate power, than it was for war with Great Britain, a first-class power, when President Cleveland joined issue on the Venezuela boundary line and reasserted the Monroe doctrine. That tussle with Spain proved a short, soft snap. He reaped more fruit from it than he had planned for or expected, and has taken to his administration and the party he represents the glory of the achievements in the contest into which he and his political associates and advisers were reluctantly forced. The war for Cuba was inspired by political expediency, and Porto Rico, the Carolines and the Philippines, with a mortgage on Cuba, were some of the fruits they glory in.

As countries are generally captivated by victories that add to their prestige or power or territoral domain they feel that their expansion policy will be sustained and are apprehensive only on the Trust question, which carries with it the tariff question, as it bears on the Trusts, if it go no further.

The disquieting element in this is not Democratic opposition, for if the Republicans were united they would have little fear of that, with Mark Hanna as a campaign director and purse provider, but there is division bordering on revolt in the Republican ranks, thousands who have heretofore stood loyally by protection when they believed it necessary now rallying around and endorsing the anti-Trust declarations of Representative Babcock, of Wisconsin, who has pronounced against the monopolies which grind and stand under the sheltering wings of the protective tariff.

Mr. McKinley had been listening to the voice of the voters, even before they spoke so unequivocally through Mr. Babcock, and he realized the necessity of doing something to hold them in the party (as the silver Republicans in the '96 campaign were held in the party by that bimetallic fake) and therefore in his message to Congress he suggested that there should be a reduction of tariff duties on such articles as could now be made in this country in competition with Europe and on which there was no longer need of tariff protection.

But he seems to have come to the conclusion that this might bring him and his party into conflict with the Trusts, which in the past have given such effective support to the party and to him, and therefore has reconsidered the reduction recommendation and hedged on reciprocity, a fake of the first magnitude, a political dodge pure and simple.

Mark Hanna, who stands close enough to Mr. McKinley to cast a shadow over him, has given him away on the tariff reduction, and foreshadowed the course of the administration will be when in speaking of the Babcock movement he said it was not "worthy of serious consideration," that our steel manufacturing interests must not be left to the mercy of the steel manufacturers of Canada, who would "dump their products in New England," and therefore there must be "no tariff tinkering." But he and Mr. McKinley, and the rest of them realize the imperative necessity of doing something to remove the impression that they are owned and the Republican party dominated by the Trusts, and therefore he (and he is echoed by them) has struck on the reciprocity humbug, which they can work without alarming the Trusts.

ASIATIC COTTON.

A dispatch published several days ago stated that Japanese cotton spinners who had been buying nearly all their cotton in this country, were now buying most of it in India, mixing it with American cotton, which is of a better quality. Now comes the report that the Russian spinners are increasing their consumption of Asiatic cotton and decreasing their purchases of American cotton. The reason for this is given in the following condensation by the Baltimore Sun of a report by the British consul at Warsaw:

"It seems that in ordinary times imported cotton—whether American or Indian—is sold to Russian spinners on credit terms, while trans Caspian cotton must be paid for promptly. But owing to the unprofitable condition of the Russian cotton industry during the last eighteen months or two years the rule was adopted of requiring prompt payment for imported cotton also. The withdrawal of credit in the latter case induced spinners to turn their attention more than before to the trans-Caspian product. In respect of staple this is fully equal to American, but it is not so well cleaned, and steps are being taken to insure better ginning and more careful classification and packing in future. Of course this substitution could not have taken place if the most recent crops of the Russian Asiatic cotton had not been abundant. In fact, however, the crops of the last two years were the largest ever grown. The Consul's statistics show that in 1900 Russia consumed 1,120,006 bales, of which 622,800 were Asiatic. The imported American cotton fell from 747,810 bales in 1899 to 597,200 in 1900. The withdrawal of credit to Russian spinners was necessitated by their numerous failures, caused by the depressed condition of trade in Russia."

Here is a decrease of 149,610 bales in one year, which large as it is is probably but the beginning for the area of cultivation is steadily enlarging in the Russian dominion. The seed from which this cotton is grown has imported from this country and was of the best quality, which accounts for the fact stated in the above extract that "the staple is fully equal to the American."

With such a decrease in one year, how long will it be before American cotton will have entirely disappeared from the Russian mills? In several respects the Asiatic cotton grower has the advantage of the American in the Russian market for he has a soil and climate in which the plant thrives, has cheap labor, and cheap transportation, for to encourage the industry, the railroads, which are owned by the government, transport the cotton at very low rates, about enough to cover the actual cost of handling.

SPYING OUT THE LAND.

It has been pretty generally known that many valuable minerals are found in Cuba, but Mr. Charles Willis Hayes, of the U. S. Geological Survey, who at the request of Governor-General Wood, has been exploiting the island, says no one who has not made a personal observation has any conception of the extent, variety and abundance of the minerals found there.

He made, with two assistants of the department to which he belongs, an exploration of several provinces and the Isle of Pines. He found iron, manganese, copper, asphaltum and marble. The iron ore deposits he pronounces even more extensive than those in Pennsylvania, comparing favorably with the Lake Superior deposits. There are large deposits of copper, in which some mining has been done in the past, while asphaltum of a superior quality is found in several localities. On the Isle of Pines marble is found in practically inexhaustible quantity, of the finest quality and of several varieties suitable for all purposes for which marble is used. And all these, the iron, manganese, copper, asphaltum and marble are so located as to be worked advantageously and convenient to shipment by water, many of the properties being right on the sea front with good harbors nearby.

This is all interesting and it is also suggestive. Why should Governor General Wood show so much interest in the mineral resources of Cuba as to press into the service experts from the U. S. Geological Survey to spy them out? Was he doing this for the benefit of Cuba, or for the benefit of American capitalists who are ready and willing to pick up and take in good things which they find lying around loose or hidden under the ground? We dare say that the average Cuban who has kept up with events has learned more in the past two years about the resources of his island than the generations before him had learned in three hundred years. This illustrates the difference between the hustling, inquisitive American and the go slow Spaniard.

YOUR BODIES ARE TEMPLES

You believe that statement. But you only realize in part the obligations implied by it. Do you keep that temple of the body clean? If not, the defilement attaches to every service of the temple. Disease of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, affects the mind as well as the body. The dull mind stupified by poisonous gasses, enters on its service without desire, and accomplishes it without delight. A healthy body and a clear mind result from the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It removes the clogging and poisonous impurities from the stomach, stimulates the flow of the juices necessary to digestion and increases the blood supply in quality and quantity. The "Discovery" is strictly a temperance medicine and contains no alcohol or whisky, neither opium, cocaine, nor other narcotic.

"I had suffered from indigestion and only those who have suffered from it know what it really is," writes Mrs. M. J. Fagan, of 1613 East Genesee Street, Syracuse, N. Y. "I had had severe attacks of headache and dizziness with cold hands and feet; everything I ate distressed me, bowels were constipated and I was growing very thin and nervous. I cannot half express the bad feelings I had when I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I took nine bottles of the 'Discovery.' I commenced feeling better with the first bottle and kept on improving. Now I am so greatly improved in health my friends often speak of it."

BOOK NOTICES.

The reader will enjoy The Smart Set for June, which is filled with interesting matter, leading off with an entertaining story, "The Middle Course," by Mrs. Poultney Bigelow. There is a moral in this story, too. Published by The Essess Publishing Company, New York.

Frank Leslie's Monthly for May presents an interesting and varied list of contents, handsomely illustrated. Among other interesting articles is one on "The Trust Builders," illustrated. Published by The Frank Leslie Publishing House, 141-143 Fifth Avenue, New York.

Mr. D. A. Tompkins, of Charlotte, who always writes interestingly and instructively on topics pertaining to cotton, has just published a pamphlet entitled "The Cotton Gin, the History of Its Invention," a work that required a large amount of labor in hunting up old records in the Courts and Patent Office. The object of this work is to show who was the inventor of the saw gin, and vindicate the South from the charge of having unfairly treated Whitney. The records show that Whitney invented a cotton gin, with spike teeth, but a Mr. Holmes soon afterwards improved on this and gave us the saw invention. Both were duly patented. Mr. Whitney received in royalties for the use of his invention $90,000, $15,000 of which was paid by the State of North Carolina.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—— John McKinley, a first cousin of the President, was sent to the poorhouse in Marshall county, Kan., a few days ago. In handing around prosperity Cousin Bill seems to have overlooked Cousin John.—Atlanta Journal, Dem.

—— Labor leaders are agitated, it seems, over the near expiration of the Chinese Exclusion law, lest the monopolies take advantage of it to import a horde of Chinese cheap laborers. The general public will sympathize with them for that and other reasons. One other is, that we all want "America for Americans," the clear understanding being that this is a White Man's Government, and to keep it so, with all that implies to civilization, "the Yellow Peril," a menace, not as soldiers, but as toilers by reason of the multitude of them, must be kept without our bounds.—Brooklyn Citizen, Dem.

—— Now that the United States has captured the numerous steamers of the Leyland Steamship Line and many more steamships are said to be about to be added to our merchant fleet, where is the Ship Subsidy bill to come in? What need have we to encourage people to invest in seagoing steamers by giving huge bounties out of the taxpayers' pockets when we see them acquiring fleets of 600,000 tons and over without bounties? Senator Frye is said to be refurbishing his Subsidy bill for the next session of Congress, but recent events make his little joker ridiculous. Surely Mr. Morgan, the Steel Trust and Standard Oil are rich enough to buy all the ships they need without help.—Baltimore Sun, Dem.

His Life Was Saved.

Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with Typhoid Fever, that ran into Pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even sit up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of Consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it, and am now well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvellous medicine is the surest and quickest cure in the world for all Throat and Lung Trouble. Regular sizes 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottles 10 cents at R. R. BELLAMY's Drug Store; every bottle guaranteed. †

DEAR, FOLDED HANDS.

Dear, folded hands, so worn with care,
So quiet on the paseless breast,
Will any burden need you there,
If Heaven is a place of rest?
And you, dear heart, will you forget
The struggles of these lower lands?
Or is there some sweet service yet
For folded hands?

Yours was the never-ending task
Born of a never ending need.
Our selfishness, it was, to ask,
Your sweet unselfishness to heed.
And now in the unwonted rest
Long promised in the better lands,
How can you sit an idle guest
With folded hands?

No tears to dry, no wounds to bind,
No sufferer to tend and bless—
Where will those eager fingers find
A need for all their tenderness?
Yet, knowing all they did before,
Perchance the Father understands,
And holds some precious work in store
For folded hands.

MRS. ELMER FLEMING, of Minneapolis, Minn., writes from 2535 Polk street, N. E.:

"I have been troubled all my life with catarrh. I took Peruna for about three months, and now think I am permanently cured. I believe that for catarrh in all its forms Peruna is the medicine of the age. It cures when all other remedies fail."

Mrs. C. Nickel, Hebron, Neb., writes: "I suffered from weakness for ten years. The least exertion caused me pain in the middle of my chest and difficulty in breathing. When I would awake in the night my heart would palpitate so that I often could not sleep. I took Peruna and now I can do all of my work easily without getting short of breath.

"Peruna is the best medicine for me. It strengthens my nerves. It is just what I need. As long as I use Peruna I do not know anything about weakness.

"I have never found a medicine that makes me feel so strong and vigorous as Peruna. I shall always keep Peruna in the house. It ought to have a place in every home.

"The longer I use it the better I like it. I would not give your book, "The Ills of Life" away for any price if I could not get another."

HOW PERUNA MAKES STRONG NERVES.

Nervousness is due to bloodlessness of nerve centers. To enrich the blood is to cure nervousness. Diseases of the nervous system calls for more blood and better blood. Peruna answers this call by giving the system a perfect supply of pure red blood. Thus it is that Peruna is a natural tonic. It does not temporarily stimulate the nervous system, but permanently invigorates it.

Peruna regulates the supply of blood to the various parts of the system. When one part has more blood than it ought to have, another part is deprived of its natural supply of blood. This sets up all sorts of functional irregularities so common to people who spend much time indoors. Peruna cures these affections by regulating the supply of blood and giving to each part of the system exactly that portion of the blood to which it is entitled.

By producing a natural appetite, correcting digestion and regulating the supply of blood in the system, Peruna removes the cause of a thousand and one maladies very common in warm weather.

The fatigue and languor of hot weather is directly due to impoverished blood. This condition prepares the way for the advent of almost any disease. Peruna protects the system against the ailments of summer by fortifying it with a regular supply of the best blood.

A book entitled "Summer Catarrh" sent free by The Peruna Medicine Co. Columbus, Ohio.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE

— Durham Sun: A number of negroes have left Durham during the past few months for different places throughout the North. They go to accept places as house servants, cooks, butlers, etc.

— Lexington Dispatch: Many thousands of dollars worth of timber was destroyed by the forest fire in Healing Springs township some days ago. A subscriber tells us that at least half of the timber on Flat Swamp mountain was destroyed.

— Smithfield Herald: Early Tuesday morning a severe hail storm passed across the northern and western parts of this county. Its path was between Archer and Earpsboro and above LeMay. Some places the hail drifted to a depth of one foot. Next day in some places in the woods it was two or three inches deep. Considerable damage was done to corn, tobacco and cotton. Farmers are planting over cotton where it was worst.

— Mount Olive Advertiser: About ninety cars of strawberries were shipped last Wednesday, and with the advent of seasonable weather that quantity increases daily. —— Berry growers whose crops were not injured by the hail reported several days ago that they "out of the woods" and all money received hereafter was to go in bank. —— Our people are already asking themselves: "How did we manage to do business for so many years without a bank?" It pays out from from $6,000 to $8,000 per day on strawberry checks alone.

— Littleton Reporter: William Ridley, a colored barber, of Weldon, was accidentally drowned in Roanoke river last night Monday night. He was out fishing in the river and fell overboard. became entangled in the net and could not be saved. —— Mr. T. M. Allen, of Embro, Warren county, was in town last Saturday. Mr. Allen informs us that hail was two and a half feet deep on Friday in portions of his yard where wind and water had driven it. When he left home Saturday at noon it was over twelve inches deep. The storm was very destructive to cotton and other growing crops.

— Carthage Blade: A consuming fire occurred in the Parkwood community last Friday and considerable damage was done. It began at Putnam and went south. The forests were burned and the church saved only by heroic efforts. Several small houses at Parkwood were burned. A new cottage belonging to J. L. Phillips was destroyed. Mr. Joe Cockman lost a house. B. P. Phillips lost his dwelling house and all the household furniture except one bed and all of his outhouses and fences. A great deal of fence enclosing various farms was destroyed and the crops left without protection.

COTTON MARKETS.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, May 18.—The cotton market opened quiet with prices unchanged to two points lower, and after the call was dull with fluctuations too narrow to permit of even scalping turns being made. There was nothing in the cables to affect preconceived ideas, a slight decline in spot cotton offsetting a slight advance in futures. Rains were reported in the Atlantic States and in Eastern and Northern Texas, with showers in part of the central belt. This condition had been discounted, and therefore attracted no more than passing attention. Receipts were light, but yesterday's estimates had foreshadowed this feature. In fact, there was nothing in the way of news upon which to base fresh conclusions and as a general thing the pit contingent settled down to a policy of evening-up old accounts pending new weak developments. The commission house element had no orders, the West contributed no business, and the South was indifferent. Shorts bid July up to 7.60 after the call from 7.58, but later there was a reaction under sheer absence of speculative support.

NEW YORK, May 18.—Cotton quiet; middling uplands 8 1-16c.

The market for futures closed quiet and steady with prices net unchanged to four points lower. Futures opened quiet. May 7.50; June 7.54; July 7.58; August 7.26; September 7.09; October 7.03; November 7 00; December 7.01; January 7 03. Closed quiet; and steady May 7.46; June 7.52; July 7.56; August 7.24; September 7.08; October 7.03; November 7.01; December 7.00; January 7.02; February 7.03 Spot closed quiet; middling uplands 8 1 6; middling gulf 8 5-16; sales 589 bales.

FARM AND GARDEN

SILO MAKING.

Make the Silo Deep, With Smooth Walls and Pack Thoroughly.

Make the silo deep, for the greater the depth the greater will be the pressure on that below, thus forcing out air from the fodder and insuring better silage. Shallow silos as a rule give less satisfactory results than deep ones, as there are larger air spaces in the silage owing to lack of pressure. Wherever practicable the silo should have a depth of not less than 24 feet, while more satisfactory results may be expected if it is ten feet deeper.

Make the silo walls smooth. After the silage is placed in the pit it should settle evenly and easily. If the walls are perfectly vertical and smooth, the conditions for settling will be favorable. Where stone is used, a coat of water lime cement must be used to make a good surface. As silage contains acid, this smooth surface will gradually become eaten and rough, so that from year to year, as seems necessary, a light wash of cement should be brushed over the wall to make it smooth. Where wood is used, the lining boards should be dressed on one side. The wall on the inside should be perfectly plumb and smooth from the top of the silo to the foundation wall, from the top of which there may be a slight bevel to the floor. In any form of wooden silo, excepting the round, it is desirable that the inside lining boards be nailed on vertically. The silage will then slip down easily.

Have as few corners as possible. Upon the thoroughness of the packing usually depends the character of the preservation. Most of the waste which occurs where silage has been well put in occurs at the surface, against the doors, at the sides and in the corners.

Use gas tar on wooden silos, for when applied hot it is considered the best known preservative of wood available for common use. Even put on cold, if not too thick for rapid painting, it is a superior preservative. Tar may also be thinned with gasoline without the use of heat. As gasoline rapidly evaporates into a gas which is very inflammable much care should be used.

The illustrations, from publications of the Wisconsin station, give an idea of the appearance and method of filling a round silo and explain in a measure the process of constructing a silo of this kind. Fig. 1 shows a method of laying and leveling the foundation. A is a center post with top level with top of proposed wall. B B are straight edge boards nailed to stakes driven in the ground. C is a piece of straight edge timber fixed to turn on a pin at A. B B are all nailed level with top of post A. Fig. 2 shows the construction. The sills are 2 by 4 inches in two foot sections, with the ends cut on the slant of a radius of the silo circle. These should be sawed out with much care. After being bedded in mortar they may be toenailed together. The plates are the same, spiked to top of studs, which are 2 by 4 inches, a foot apart. Short lengths of studs may be used lapped to get the depth. Sixteens and fourteens will give a silo 30 feet deep. Linings are made from fencing sawed to give one-half inch in thickness; outside sheathing the same; siding for silos under 28 feet, outside diameter, common siding, rabbeted. For diameter over 28 feet outside common drop siding or ship lap may be used.—C. S. Plumb.

Blanching Celery.

In the market garden all sorts of schemes have to be followed to save labor in blanching the plant—the art of removing the natural bitter quality. At times the plants are set close together so as to partially shade one another, and finally boards are set upright against the plant in the rows. At other times albino varieties are employed that seem blanched because they develop no green or chlorophyllous matter in their structure. But the bitter taste remains.

To have good celery the process of earthing up must be continuous. It requires a very rich soil, and if plenty of water can be given so much the better, says Meehan's Monthly.

Large Tops on Potatoes.

Comparing Carman No. 3 and Rural New Yorker potatoes, an Ohio correspondent of National Stockman says: With me the Carman No. 3 has been more vigorous, not so liable to blight and a little later, and the potato itself is better quality and not so liable to have black streaks through it.

Last fall Mr. Agee spoke of liking a variety of potato with a large, vigorous top, and this winter at institutes I have heard quite a few advocate large tops. I have taken notes on this point for a number of years and they do not support this idea. On the contrary, even with varieties that have large tops, if the early part of the season has been such as not to develop an excessive top they will yield more potatoes than when the rainfall has been excessive early in the season.

Every plant acts as a pump, drawing water from the soil and giving it off to the atmosphere, and the larger the leaf surface the more water will be given off to the air. Here is the great advantage of the Carmans: They send up a single straight stem which does not branch and fall down until late in the season, giving an opportunity for a long season of cultivation by which we liberate plant food, conserve moisture and kill weeds. True the large top that goes down early shades the ground, but it is giving off water to the air, though prone, and we can conserve moisture much better by cultivation than by shading.

Disking and Danger From the Fly.

The use of the disk, cutaway or spring tooth harrow in making a seed bed for oats is all right, according to a Farm and Fireside writer, if the field is not infested with the fly. But if the fly is present we must realize it will not be destroyed in this way, and the chance for a crop of oats would be slim. The fly is in the wheat plants, ready to come out in the warm spring weather and deposit its eggs on the young oat plants. The only practicable way is to plow the field, burying the wheat plants. Either do this or else not seed the fly infested wheat field to oats. There is too much danger if the plants are left at the surface. Where there is no fly, the wheatfield that has been winter killed can be disked with harrow and prepared for oats in better shape than when a breaking plow is used.

Agricultural Brevities.

A popular windbreak for general purposes consists of a mixed planting of evergreens and deciduous trees such as Norway spruce and sugar maple or elm.

Jersey truckers tell of a new spotted cabbage bug which cuts the late setting badly. It has a long, pointed bill In attacking the cabbage the bugs raise themselves slightly forward, point the bill on a direct line and insert it in the fleshy body of the leaf over and over again, then move slowly either way and repeat, causing the outer leaves to turn an ash color and dry up.

Anthracnose of blackberries can be controlled by spraying with copper sulphate solution before the buds break in spring, followed at intervals of two or three weeks with bordeaux mixture.

"Farm products advanced in value nearly 33 per cent" is American Agriculturist's summary of present "agricultural prosperity."

Corn and tomato growers throughout much of Maryland are refusing the bids of the packers for the coming season's crops. In line with the similar action taken by growers in portions of New Jersey the farmers are organizing to secure not less than $7 per ton for tomatoes, or $1 more than the packers have offered, says New England Homestead.

No Right to Ugliness.

The woman who is lovely in face, form and temper will always have friends, but one who would be attractive must keep her health. If she is weak, sickly and all run down, she will be nervous and irritable. If she has constipation or kidney trouble, her impure blood will cause pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. Electric Bitters is the best medicine in the world to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to purify the blood. It gives strong nerves, bright eyes, smooth, velvety skin, rich complexion. It will make a good-looking, charming woman of a run-down invalid. Only 50 cents at R. R. BELLAMY'S Drug Store. †

ELECTRIC HERCULEX

FOR WEAK MEN AND WOMEN

A perfectly safe and natural invigorator. Superior in every way to all other remedies. Imparts to the weakened system a gentle soothing current of GALVANIC ELECTRICITY, the essential element of robust health and vigorous strength—making life worth living, and promoting longevity in strict accord with all the laws of Nature.

A marvel of modern therapeutic science, with a record of over 50,000 cures extending throughout the world. The accepted and approved remedy of thinking men and women, particularly those whose experience has shown them the futility of drug treatment. Appeals to the common sense and reason of all who use it.

If You have Overtaxed Your System through over-work, excess or exposure, family or business cares, ELECTRIC HERCULEX will build you up and restore you to a condition of health in an incredibly short time. If you suffer from Nervousness, Rheumatism, Kidney, Bladder or Liver Troubles, Indigestion, Constipation, Weak Back, etc., I am confident it will cure you if you are willing to do your part.

No inconvenience, no risk of injury, to stomach, as in drug treatment. No loss of time. Adjusted to the body and used while you rest or sleep, strengthening every vital centre and naturally refreshing the mental faculties. One application will give relief, and if treatment is continued for one or two months and simple directions followed a complete and permanent cure will follow.

MY "BOOK OF NATURE" FREE

To all who are interested. It gives valuable and interesting information (of 30 years' experience) concerning the natural laws of health—and their inseparable relation to and co-operation with Galvanic Electricity—which every man and woman sufferer should know. Sent in plain sealed envelope upon request.

THE LATEST AS TO NERVES AND STRENGTH

It is not muscle so much as the nerves back of muscle which show one's strength and power of endurance. And the study with able physicians of to-day is how to keep the nerves in perfect health and fitted for the strain of everyday living. Headache of every type, nerve weakness, dyspepsia, sleeplessness, langnor, restlessness, nervous dyspepsia, muscular weakness, brain weariness, poor circulation,—a thousand different unpleasant feelings and symptoms are due to nerve waste and nerve weakness,—especially in women and children. But how can all this be prevented, one will ask? How can my broken-down constitution be repaired, and nerve strength and full, robust health be secured. Just two points to remember: Determine that you will grow strong in nerves and health, and decide to use at once that most famous nerve cure, CUCELLIN. It is delicious in taste, quick in action and makes the wearied nerves tingle with renewed strength and every function the stronger and faculty the brighter by its use. Druggists sell it.

The Morning Star.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

SUNDAY MORNING, MAY 19.

SOUTHERN PRESBYTERIANS.

Reports to General Assembly On Revision of Church Law—Provision for Aged and Infirm Ministers.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

LITTLE ROCK, May 18.—Two hundred commissioners were present at to day's session of the Southern Presbyterian General Assembly.

Separate reports were presented from the ad interim committee on the revision of the church law on ecclesiastical commissions.

Dr. R. C. Reed presented a report taking strong grounds against delegating power of the General Assembly to a commission to act in the interregum between the annual meetings of the General Assembly. Judge Joseph W. Martin, of Little Rock, submitted the contrary report, recommending a substitute for Section seven, chapter 5, of the Church laws, embracing paragrapsh 92, 93 and 94. The two reports were docketed and made a special order forMonday morning.

Rev. R. P. Kerr, of Richmond, Va., from the ad interim committee, appointed to prepare a catechism for the church, submitted a report with the explanation that the committee had endeavored to make the catechism harmonize with the constitution of the church and adhering accepted principles and usuages of the church, avoiding such matters as might be subject to change. Consideration of the report was set for Monday.

Dr. R. F. Beattie, of Louisville, Ky., as chairman, reported a plan for a mor efficient provision for aged and infirm ministers. The committee recommends that a separate executive committee of seven active business men be created to take oversight of the whole work, the committee to have a salaried secretary, and that all ministers whose names are on the rolls of the Presbyteries, whether laboring at home or in the foreign field, shall be eligible to the benefits of the fund for themselves and their families. The committee recommends the desirability of establishing minister's rates or a scale of fees which each minister shall pay annually to the fund in order to obtain full participation in its benefits, those not paying to derive only a partial benefit. The committee expresses its well defined judgment that in caring for disabled ministers the Presbyterian Church is far behind other churches. The report was made a special order for Tuesday.

Three reports were made from the ad interim committee on a graded system of Bible study. Two of the reports reiterate dissatisfaction with the present international lesson plan. Dr. E. C. Murray's report recommends the changes suggested by Dr. Chiselen in his report as to the three-fold five year cycle and adoption of the scheme of studies presented in his table.

All the reports were docketed and the Assembly adjourned to Monday morning in order to permit the various committees to deliberate.

Greetings were sent to the Presbyterian General Assembly at Philadelphia and to the Cumberland Presbyterian General Assembly at West Point, Miss.

A 500,000 FIRE.

Wanamaker's Country Residence Destroyed—Fine Paintings Burned.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

PHILADELPHIA, May 18. — Thomas B. Wanamaker's handsome country residence at Meadowbrook station, one mile from Bethayres, Pa., was totally destroyed by fire this morning. The loss is estimated at $500,000. Mr. Wanamaker and his family were at their Philadelphia home at the time. The fire broke out during a heavy storm and is supposed to have been caused by a bolt of lightning. A woman care taker and her child and a man servant who were sleeping in the house narrowly escaped being burned to death. The house was filled with valuable furniture, pictures and statuary, brought for the most part from Italy. The house was of the colonial style and was built in 1826. In size it rivaled a hotel. The pictures in the art gallery are an irreparable loss. Their approximate value is $250,000.

MANILA COMMISSARY FRAUDS.

Lieut. Richard H. Townley of the Navy to be Court Martialed.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—Lieutenant Richard H. Townley, a retired officer of the navy, will be court martialed for alleged participation in the commissary frauds at Manila. Rear Admiral Kempff, in temporary command of the Asiatic station, to-day reported to the Navy Department that he had detached Townley from command of the naval school and would send him to the gunboat Manila, under suspension, to await further action.

Prompt action was taken by the department upon the receipt of Rear Admiral Kempff's report, cable orders being issued for Townley's trial by general court martial to be convened as speedily as possible.

A MORGAN LINER.

New Steamship El Dia Launched at Newport News Shipyard

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEWPORT NEWS, VA., May 18.—The Morgan Line steamship El Dia was launched at the shipyard this morning in the presence of about 3,000 people Mrs. Robert Stocker, wife of the former superintending naval constructor at the shipyard, christened El Dia as the ship started down the ways, using the traditional bottle of champagne.

The El Dia will cost, when completed, $600,000, as will each of the other Morgan liners building here.

In the event that Mrs. McKinley continues to improve the President and his party will start for Washington about the middle of this week.

LAUNCHING THE BATTLESHIP OHIO.

A Great Naval Pageant in the Harbor of the City of San Francisco.

ATTENDED BY MR. M'KINLEY.

The Real Object of the President's Long Trip Across the Continent—Immense Gatherings—Warships of Pacific Squadron Fired Salutes

By Telegraph to the Morning Star

SAN FRANCISCO, May 18.—Fortunately, Mrs. McKinley's condition today permitted President McKinley to attend the launching of the battleship Ohio from the yards of the Union Iron Works. To witness the launching of this ship, named in honor of his native State, was the real object of the President's long trip across the continent, and was the event which has attracted to the Pacific coast the Governors of three States, the Ohio congressional delegation, several United States Senators, and many other notable and distinguished people. Dramatic and picturesque as was the sight of 14,000 tons of steel sliding into the full breasted tide of San Francisco bay it was not so splendid and magnificent as the which accompanied it nor as profoundly impressive as the greeting extended to the President by the 4,000 employes of the ship yards.

When the President left the sick room of his wife this morning, every arrangement had been made to notify him on the instant of any change for the worse in her condition. The physicians assured him there were no indications of a set-back, but at his request telegraphic connections were made at the wharf and at the shipyard, and, save for the time he was on the water, he was not a minute away from direct connection with the Scott residence. He was driven to the wharf in a closed carriage, escorted by a squad of mounted police. The cabinet and other distinguished guests were already aboard the transport tug Sloan, which was to convey the party to the Union Iron Works, two miles up the bay, when he arrived.

A Triumphal Sail.

The President's flag, an eagle and shield on a blue field, was flying from the main mast and the Union Jack was at the bow as he stepped smilingly upon the gangway to the accompaniment of the cheers of the thousands who blackened the neighboring pier heads. Then began the sail over the shining waters of the bay. It proved to be a triumphal journey, the like of which has not been witnessed in this country since Admiral Dewey, upon his return from the Philippines, sailed up the Hudson on the Olympia.

Every craft in the harbor was decked out in gayest attire, and the city in the background was a perfect mound of waving flags. Every wharf on the sea front swarmed with people. Up near the ship yards the of the Pacific squadron were swinging at anchor with streams of signal flags extending fore and aft off the peaks from prow to taffrail. Near Goat Island lay the transport Sheridan, travel-stained from her long journey across the Pacific. She had just arrived from the Philippines, and still had on board the Forty-second and Forty-sixth United States volunteer infantry, which she had brought home. The President saw her at once and requested that the course of the Slocum should be changed to allow him to pass near her. As the Slocum approached the big transport there was a scene of almost frenzied enthusiasm in the air. The soldiers, all in their service uniforms, rushed to the sides and rent the air with cheer upon cheer at the sight of the President of the United States come to welcome them home.

This welcome from the soldiers was only the beginning. As the Slocum drew near, the line of steel clad thunderers of the deep, with jackies lining the rails, the marine guards drawn up aft and officers in full uniform on the bridges, a puff of smoke burst, like a white balloon, from the port quarter of the battleship Wisconsin, Admiral Casey's flagship. Boom came the report. It was the first gun from the ships, the first of twenty one. Each of the warships, the big, savage battle ship Iowa, the long, lean cruisers Philadelphia and Adams, the little torpedo boat Farragut and the revenue cutter McCulloch, which was with Dewey at Manila, turned loose their secondary batteries as the Slocum slowly passed by.

Beyond the warships the little tug threaded her way through the holiday fleet of steamers, yachts, tugs, barges and every variety of water craft jammed about the front of the ship yard. Each was black with cheering people, and there was hardly one of them which did not have a saluting gun of some sort to add its voice to the roar of welcome that greeted the President from the dense crowd of workmen gathered upon the pier. Ashore, to the right, was a stand covered with acres of people, and beyond that a hill alive with them. Upon the pier a broad aisle of white muslin ran through the workmen packed on either side. Up this path, arched over with flags and banners, one of them bearing the inscription, "The Oregon Has Made Her Record; Watch the Ohio," the President and his party moved to a stand where a representative of the 4,500 employes of the Union Iron Works, in a neat speech, in which he asked a heartfelt blessing upon the head of the President and expressed tender sympathy for his suffering wife, presented the President, as a token of the esteem of the workmen, with a gold plate, engraved with a suitable inscription.

The Launching.

A platform had been built around the prow of the big iron monster, which lay in the very slip in which the famous Oregon was built and from which President Harrison launched the monitor Monterey ten years ago. Gathered on the platform were the President and members of the cabinet, Governor Nash, of Ohio, Miss Deshler, his niece, who was to christen the ship, Miss Barber, who was to act for Mrs. McKinley and many uniformed officers of the army and navy.

Miss Barber and the President stood before the electric appliance, which controlled the guillotine that was to sever the rope which would loose the weight that was to knock out the last beam. Miss Barber, with her finger on the button, was looking intently at the indicator. At 12:22½ two and a half minutes before the tide was at its highest, the time set for the launching, there suddenly shot into the face of the indicator the word "ready." Miss Barber pressed the button. The last block fell away. At the same time Miss Desheler, a young lady of 17, in a light gown, with her dark hair braided down her back in school girl fashion, let go of the bottle of champagne suspended at the side of the bow by a red, white and blue ribbon and as it crashed against the side she uttered the words "I christen thee 'Ohio.'"

Released from its bonds, the heavy hull of 14,000 tons of steel went ploughing through the thick grease of its cradle. Slowly at first, then faster and faster, she slid down the ways taking the flood majestically and piling up the water in great waves before her. The band crashed, the whistles blew and the multitude shouted. No ship ever given to the American navy has taken her initial plunge into the sea under more favorable auspices, or in the presence of a more distinguished company.

The trip back to the ctiy was almost a repetition of the journey to the yard. There was the same wild demonstration from sea and shore.

ATTEMPT TO LYNCH NEGRO MURDERERS.

White Man Killed and Robbed at McConnellsville—Mob Attack the Jail, But Fail to Secure Murderers

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., May 18.—Five thousand frantic white people surrounded the fragile little lockup in the town hall here to night. Behind the cell bars tremble William Fairfax and his wife, "Black El," both colored, and who had just murdered William Moore, assistant yardmaster in the Baltimore and Ohio yards here and a man well known in Fayette and West Moreland railroad circles for many years. The tragedy developed so quickly that it took the breath from the townspeople. The streets were crowded with the Saturday night throngs. William Moore and Baggage Master Johnston, of the Fairmont branch train, walked down Main street and turned in towards the Hotel Haas, on Water street, through a rear alley. Johnston had left Moore, and the latter, before he had gone a moment, was assaulted suddenly by Fairfax and his wife, who threw stones. Several people saw the woman dart forward, and the black man also, each hurling the missiles. Moore was struck with a brick on the head and fell forward. Quick as a flash Fairfax leaned down over the prostrate victim, jerked his watch from his pocket, took his money from his clothing, and then with wanton brutality took the unconscious body in his arms and hurled it over a stone wall, a distance of thirty feet. Moore was not dead when hurled from the stone wall, but the fall broke his neck and he died instantly. In a moment the town was afire. The murder was right in the heart of it. The woman continued to stone back the crowd which pressed her. Fairfax in the confusion fled. Policeman Charles Stillwagon took the woman and hustled her to the lockup. In the meantime search began for Fairfax. He ran up the rear stairs of a vacant house and was there betrayed by a woman who saw him secrete himself. He was hustled up the dark alley and before the crowd knew of it he had been placed in the lockup next his wife.

The Jail Attacked.

In a few minutes afterwards the lock up was surrounded by a howling mob of infuriated men. In the midst of them were Wm. Moore's three sons, crying and adding to the excitement and the bitterness of the crowd. Inside with the murderers were a handful of officers who blockaded the narrow aisle leading from the outer door to the cells. The men on the outside beat this in. But the police remained firm. The crowd kept battering at the doors entreating the officers to give up the prisoners, and shouting "bring him out to the rope." "Lynch him."

A few minutes before 10 o'clock a few ringleaders succeeded in getting on the inside and opened fire with revolvers at the negroes through the cell doors. For several minutes this fusilade continued. The officers shot into the air to frighten the people. Suddenly down the street came a crowd of men bearing a telephone pole which the crowd took and using it as a battering ram began to knock down the walls of the building. In the meantime Sheriff George A. McCormick, of Fayette county, had been notified and with a large posse is being rushed to Connellsville from Uniontown on a freight, the intention being to take the prisoners under escort to the train and get them into the jail at Uniontown.

Battered Down the Walls.

By 11:30 o'clock the infuriated mob had used the battering ram so effectively that the outer wall of the building separating the hose carriage from the aisle of the lock, broke through. Soon a giant hole gaped. Exposed and showing plainly under the light within stood the negro Fairfax. The sight was maddening. The battering ram bent and twisted the cell bars till the negro stood exposed so that he could have been dragged out. But the officers, headed by County Detective McBeth, stood before the man, thwarting the work of the ram, standing on it with their feet to stop its work. McBeth calmly informed the men at the head of the ram, "if you break through, the first man that enters the cell dies."

He held his pistol in his hand. A man appeared with a rope, swinging the loop high over the heads of the crowd, but none were brave enough to face death at the hands of the officers.

Lynchers Foiled.

Shortly after midnight William Moore, the eldest son of the murdered man mounted the steps in front of the lockup and said:

"For my mother's sake and for my own sake I ask the mob to disperse. I do not want the negro dragged out and you should therefore not want him."

Father John Burns, pastor of the Immaculate Conception church also spoke to the crowd and asked them to preserve the good name of the town as did Burgess Josiah B. Kurtz. The crowd listened attentively and respectfully but renewed the efforts to get the negro as soon as the speakers had finished.

CORNELLSVILLE, PA, May 19, 1:40 A. M.—This morning Sheriff McCormick, by a clever ruse succeeded in eluding the mob and placing the Fairfax couple on a special train, and started for Uniontown jail with his prisoners.

MURDERED BY NEGROES.

G. A. Boyleston, Citizen of Atlanta, Killed in Pratt City, Ala.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA., May 18.—G. A. Boyleston, a citizen of Atlanta, was shot and killed to-night by highway robbers, while in the company of E. D. Evans, of Pratt City.

The killing occurred near the office of the Pratt City Lumber Company, in Pratt City. The people of the little mining suburb are aroused to an alarming state, and if the negroes who committed the crime are caught it is altogether probable that a lynching will settle their fate.

Shortly after the commission of the deed a large crowd of citizens were in search of the men who did the work. Three suspects have been placed under arrest.

The National Society of Colonial Dames of the United States yesterday sent $485 to the Jacksonville sufferers.

ALBANY STRIKE AMICABLY SETTLED

If the Agreements Are Kept There Will be No More Trouble.

THE CITIZENS ARE REJOICING.

It Cost the Lives of Two Prominent Citizens and Entailed an Expense of Over $39,000 Upon the County—Concessions Made to Strikers.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

ALBANY, May 18.—The great railroad strike, lasting twelve days, requiring the presence of 3,000 members of the National Guard in the city, costing the lives of two prominent citizens, and entailing an expense to the county of Albany of over $39,000, is amicably settled, and if the agreements are kept there will be no trouble for three years at least. The ominous calm, which succeeded the killing of two inoffensive citizens two days ago by national guardsmen defending property, was succeeded this afternoon and evening by hysterical enthusiasm when public bell towers and city newspapers proclaimed that the twelve days' strike on the street railways of five cities had been settled. Flags flying from public and private buildings, horses and wagons decorated with bunting and the national emblem, citizens carrying small flags in their hands and enthusiastic youths and otherwise dignified citizens chasing after the cars, marked some of the earlier scenes of the afternoon. The repair wagon left the traction company's barn with its own old Union crew aboard and going along the street received an ovation. It was decorated with flags and escorted by a joyful crowd very different from the angry mob that had followed the cars the last few days. To night several of the lines are running in this city and all of them in the other cities, and by noon to-morrow all the lines will be running on schedule time with Union men.

As is usual both sides to the controversy claim the credit. From the face of the agreement it is evident that the striking men won these concessions: Increasing night men and extra men's wages to twenty cents per hour. Granting men the right of appeal from a decision of an inspector or the superintendent to the traction company's executive board. The road to pay any employe for lost time when suspended and found not guilty. Employes permitted to ride on their own divisions free by showing their badge. No discrimination against strikers who have not committed violence.

General Oliver waited for some time to have Sheriff McCreery notify him that the strike was ended but finally ordered the return of the troops to their homes.

CONDITIONS IN JACKSONVILLE

Sickness in the Burnt District Increasing. Laborers at Saw Mills Demanding Higher Wages.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

JACKSONVILLE, FLA., May 18.—The executive committee of the Jacksonville Relief Association held its usual meeting this morning and discussed many matters of importance which related to the relief of the fire sufferers.

Father Kenny, of the Information Bureau, stated that he had a census of the burnt district taken, and that he was now prepared to give information regarding this matter. He stated that the demand for medicines for the sick was increasing every day, but that the bureau was handling the situation satisfactorily. Father Kenny was authoriz d in certain cases to secure physicians for the sick when the city physician could not be located. A. W. Cockrell, Jr., stated that the physicians of Jacksonville were doing a noble work and were giving their services free in many of the cases, which was most commendable.

Father Kenny sprung a sensation by informing the committee that the labor unions had issued orders to the saw mill men that in view of the fact that the prices on groceries had increased, they must demand higher wages or quit work after to-day. This matter was considered serious and the members present who discussed the matter said that from all they could learn no increase in prices of groceries had been made. No formal action was taken.

THE WOMAN IN THE CASE.

Coroner's Inquiry Into the Mysterious Murder in Washington, D. C.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star

WASHINGTON, May 18—The coroner's inquiry into the mysterious murder of the young census clerk, James Seymour Ayres, Jr., at the Kenmore Hotel last Wednesday morning, was begun to-day. The first forty minutes were given to a careful inspection by the jury of the scene of the crime.

James Burns, a Michigan clerk in the government printing office, said Ayres had been formerly very attentive to Mrs. Bonine, a guest at the Kenmore, but that lately there had been coolness between the two.

Miss Minas, who had a room next to Ayres, said Mrs. Bonine had been to Ayres' room a number of times. At 11 o'clock Tuesday night, Mrs Bonine visited Miss Minas in the latter's room, wearing a black and brown wrapper Mrs. Bonine explained that she was looking for her son Morris.

Other testimony developed little of value, and the inquest was adjourned until Monday.

FIREMAN KILLED.

Slipped From a Line of Hose and Dashed to Death at St. Louis

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

ST. LOUIS, May 18.—While fighting a fire which threatened destruction to the five-story brick building 1101 to 1105 Olive street to-day, Edward Green, a fireman, slipped from a line of hose upon which he was descending from the roof to a ladder and was dashed to death on the stone pavement, sixty feet below. A moment after Green fell to his death four other firemen, caught in the same trap, made the perilous descent on the hose in safety, amid cheers. The loss by the fire was $100,000.

UP TO DATE.

Guion & Davis have a well equipped Barber Shop. They have no "accomplished tonsorial artists;" but they have four first-class barbers who, with razors keen as a Damascus blade, never fail to please the most fastidious. Our bootblacks can give you a "shine" that almost equals that of The Morning Star. "Brush the gentleman from head to foot." "Next."

DAVIS & GUION,

Special Offer.

With each five thousand paper bags, either raw hide or common, we will give free one Paper Bag Holder. This will hold sixteen hundred bags. It is a "Jim Dandy," and a great time saver. This offer good for the next ten days. Send in your orders at once.

Yours truly,

D. L. GORE CO.
